our story

Sandipan Chatterjee, Founder Chairman

Sandipan started his career as a marketing executive of an esteemed multinational company. After a few months, however, he realized that though the salary was good, the work failed to offer the job satisfaction that he craved. A passionate book-lover, he decided to turn his passion into profession. Selling books was an idea that attracted him. Law, as the basis of society, was an instant choice. He began selling and distributing law books throughout West Bengal. In course of his business journey, the idea of publishing quality law books and distributing them throughout India began to haunt him. He started meeting eminent professors and authors of the legal fraternity and they also responded positively. This was the trigger that inspired him to actively pursue his long-cherished dream of becoming an entrepreneur publisher. Long years of hardship, struggle and hard work followed, as he moved towards his life's goal.

His sheer experience and in-depth knowledge of the publishing industry make Sandipan stand out from others. He is an apt professional in this field because he knows how the book publishing industry works. He possesses expertise in production, designing, selling and distribution of books.

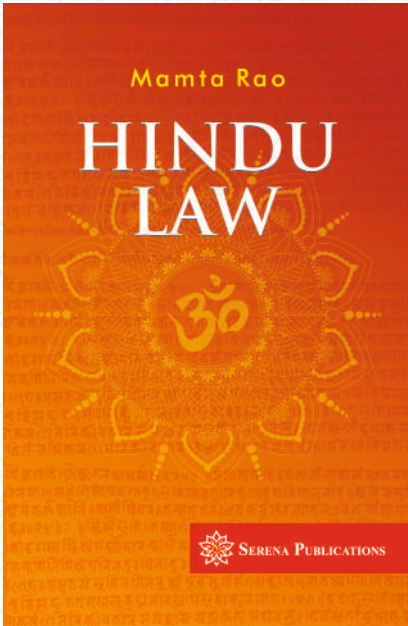

Sandipan is the first entrepreneur in his family. He fought against all adversities with his self-reliance, hard work, and dedication. During his long years of struggle he came in contact with several eminent people and well-wishers who were impressed by his courage, commitment and dedication. They help, support, and encourage him to move forward in life and profession. The journey continues ...

Soumita Chatterjee, Founder Director

A brilliant student, right from her school days, she dreamt of becoming a teacher. A popular student in school and college, owing to her active participation in literary and cultural events, she was a favourite of her teachers too. She was preparing for her higher studies, when she met Sandipan, who convinced her to join Serena Publications. With her analytical mind and deep love for languages and years of industry experience, Soumita oversees the business development and financial aspects of the Publication. Wearing the publisher's hat, her analytical approach and language skill inspire her to create books that ignite the hearts and minds of students, professionals and intelligent laymen.

HINDU LAW

Mamta Rao

ISBN: 978-81-954135-3-9

Edition : 2023

Pages: 549

₹ Rs. 640

Key Features

- ❖ Student-friendly
- ❖ Comparison of old and modern Hindu Law
- ❖ Recent Cases
- ❖ Latest amendments

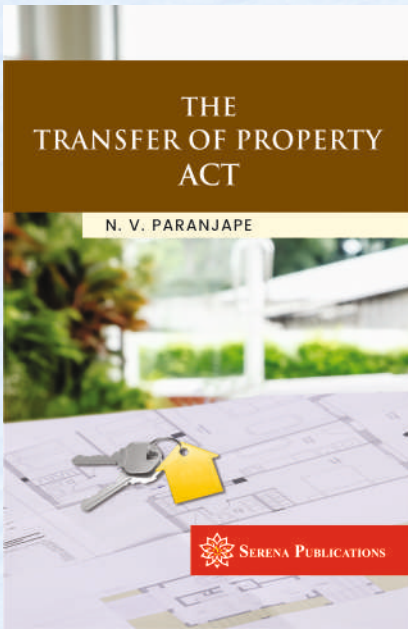

Family is the smallest and the most important unit of a society. Peace and harmony of this unit ensures societal happiness and well-being. At the same time, it is also a fact that every family has issues which are complex and disputes relating to personal laws are on the rise. It is therefore essential to regulate the issues based on customs, traditions and codify them for bringing uniformity. Family law is thus important to protect the family units, thereby saving the society. Hindu law is a progressive law which has transformed society according to its need. Studying the old Hindu law and comparing it with the codified law is therefore inevitable. This book compares the old and new law and gives suggestions for required changes.
